

Veterans Day Parade

The VA Greater Los Angeles hosts an annual Veterans Day Parade, which marches through the hospital grounds and also into a small area of Brentwood. Traditional participants include military marching bands, veterans service organizations, schools, community groups, military flyovers and celebrities/dignitaries. 2004 marks the first year that the parade is being co-managed by Pageantry Productions, the major parade/festival organizers for Southern California. The event is usually held close to the national holiday on November 11, although it may be held on a weekday to assure that hospital staff are on hand to assist with logistics and to ensure that our hospitalized patients are able to enjoy the parade.
